National and Mackinnon Matches

For details of the rules of the National Match, see the yearbook.

National Match Results

The match started in 1864 between England and Scotland; Ireland first competed in 1865, Wales in 1881. Scotland did not shoot 1877-1879 due to a dispute over the rules of the match. Wins to 2000: England 92, Scotland 34.

Secretaries of English XX

Before the English XX Club was formed, there were secretaries of the English XX. The earliest mention occurs in a report of a meeting on 12 March 1866 to appoint a captain for the year. At the end of the meeting, Capt. Lockner (possibly Capt. C.P. Lochner) and Mr Winsor, the honorary secretaries, were requested to continue their valuable services (see Volunteer Services Gazette 27 March 1866 p247). Mr Winsor continued as honorary secretary until 1879 and perhaps longer.

National and Mackinnon Match Coaches

This section lists those who have coached in the National or Mackinnon matches since 1945. National appearances are listed after a capital N, for example, N: 1946; Mackinnon appearances are listed after a capital M. Main coaches are denoted by a lower case m after the date.

The yearbook lists ten coaches for the National in 1946 and 1947, presumably two per target. From 1948 there were six coaches: a main coach and five sub-coaches.

In the Mackinnon there were four coaches: a main coach and three sub-coaches except for the following years:

- 1948, 1955-1968, 1961 and 1965 when there were three coaches
- 1949 to 1952 when there were five (with two on the left and right targets and one on the centre)
- 1959 when there were five (a main coach, assistant coach and three sub-coaches)
- 1963 when there were five (two coaches on the centre target with one on the left and right). This probably happened in 1962 and possibly 1953, 1954, and 1960.

Unfortunately the yearbook does not always list coaches and the photographs do not always identify them. Help from members would be appreciated, especially copies of the team lists, which were given to all team members with the captain's instructions for the match.

National and Mackinnon Match Rolls

This section lists those who have shot or been reserve for England in the National or Mackinnon since 1945. National appearances are listed after a capital N, for example, N: 1946; Mackinnon appearances are listed after a capital M. Suffix (R) denotes Reserve.

The number of reserves seems to have varied after the second World War. In the National it settled down to five from 1950, with as few as one recorded in 1947, and as many as eight in 1949 when the match was in Scotland.

In the Mackinnon there were usually four reserves up to 1951; from 1952 this dropped to three. It is likely that not all reserves from this period are known.

<sup>14</sup> J.M.A. Thompson was originally appointed.

Kolapore and Australia Match Coaches

This section lists those who have coached in the Kolapore, Australia or Empire matches since 1945. Kolapore appearances are listed after a capital K, for example, K: 1946; Australia or Empire appearances are listed after a capital A. Main coaches are denoted by a lower case m after the date. A letter signifying the location of an Empire or Australia Match is appended to the year only when there were two matches in one year. For the key to country codes, see page 37.
